From: DEPARTMENT OF INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY

Now that the State of California has rolled into the new millennium and day-to-day state operations are set to resume on Monday, January 3, 2000, the Department of Information Technology (DOIT) stresses the importance of State departments maintaining a heightened sense of awareness through the weeks ahead. Particularly for the first few business days in January, it is critical that departments are adequately staffed to ensure continuing operation of mission-critical and department-critical systems and to address Year 2000 (Y2K) related concerns that may arise. In addition, departments must continue to be attentive to external interfaces with other entities as they return to normal business operations after the rollover weekend.

If you have any questions regarding this directive, please contact your DOIT Y2K oversight manager.
